Olivier

Practically everyone Russian knows how to cook this dish. And children cannot imagine celebrations without this delicious dish. I'm talking about ~~an~~ olivier. It is clear why olivier is so popular in Russia. It does not need many products and efforts. Additionally, olivier is a really tasty dish, it is because of products that are needed for it. Olivier contains mayonnaise, sausage, eggs, potatoes, peas, carrots and any spices you want. So if you visit Russia, I will recommend you to eat this traditional Russian dish. However, honestly speaking, I'm not a fan of olivier. Choosing from a huge variety of traditional Russian food I would prefer to eat sandwiches with a caviar. It is another Russian typical snack during any holidays. It can seem too ordinary, however it is still one of the most favourite food for Russians. Cooking a sandwich with a caviar is also not so hard. You need only a caviar, white bread and butter, that is all. I guess it is the only dish that I really like in Russian traditional cuisine. Moreover, ~~people~~ Russians like adding caviar to pancakes. As you can understand it is another traditional food in Russia. Of course, it can be strange for foreigners, however it is really tasty food. So, do not forget to try it visiting Russia. In my family, usually we cook sandwiches with caviar and ~~panek~~ pancakes.
